PBH Construction and PBH Residential Care Homes

David Green is the founder, president and co-owner of PBH Construction and PBH Residential Care Homes. With a long-standing history of design and construction, as well as an extensive background in real estate, David's love for building, remodeling and renovating has allowed him to build a portfolio of hundreds of construction projects that span over four decades.

After many years in the building and construction industry, David founded PBH Construction in 2006 to focus his interests on remodeling, renovation and new-construction projects. Early in his career, David obtained his real-estate license, and through numerous home investments, he realized his growing interest in property improvement and construction. He soon found himself in the middle of various renovation and new-build projects. With his accumulation of real-estate knowledge, hands-on construction experience and industry know-how, it was a natural step for David to found PBH Construction.

David considers PBH Construction to be the front door that leads him to providing his clients' with the best, most functional home- and business-life they desire. His focus is to provide every client with outstanding design, high-quality workmanship, integrity in business practices, and affordable, sensible options that keep everyone on budget. And David's attention to detail ensures every improvement and new-build meets his clients' original visions.

David's work includes local and regional new-build, remodel and renovation projects for private residences, multi-family homes, and commercial and institutional spaces. Able to visualize build solutions for any size job, David's projects have ranged in space from 150 square feet to 10,000 square feet.

David's newest endeavor is PBH Residential Care Homes – a business dedicated to renovating and customizing homes specifically for elderly citizens within the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex. The first PBH Residential Care Home will in July 2011 in Grand Prairie, Texas, and accommodate six “young-at-heart” residents. PBH Residential Care Homes are built to spec for the older generation, allowing every resident to live and move comfortably, while enjoying the benefits of credentialed caregivers walking them through the everyday aspects and needs of their lives.

For both PBH Construction and PBH Residential Care Homes, David has obtained critical certifications and memberships with building-industry and aging-in-place organizations, including Tyler Area Builders Association, Texas Association of Builders, National Association of Home Builders, Energy Star Partner, Texas Residential Construction Commission, Bonded Builders Warranty Group, Lindale Chamber of Commerce, Better Business Bureau - East Texas, Grand Prairie Chamber of Commerce, North Texas Better Business Bureau and The Texas Organization of Residential Care Homes (TORCH).
